ACADEMIC PRESENTATIONS

Get a comprehensive overview of our academic programs from the faculty who designed the curriculum. Not sure what you want to select as a major? Feel free to select the session that piques your interest.

Choose from the following:

Business & Management and the Liberal Arts

Wheaton's innovative business and management program enables students to explore the role of business in today's global society. The program integrates the study of business within the liberal arts and provides multiple opportunities for students to learn by doing, including internships, international experiences and a range of co-curricular activities.

- Kenneth Bray, Professor of the Practice of Business and Management
- Eunji Cho, Assistant Professor of Business and Management

Watson Fine Arts, Ellison Lecture 102 26

Creative Industries and Art

Learn more about our programs in visual art, creative writing, design, music, theatre, dance, and film and new media studies. You will have a chance to meet with faculty and staff to learn more about opportunities offered by these programs.

- Stephanie Burlington Daniels, Professor and Chair of Theatre and Dance
- Kelly Goff, Associate Professor and Chair of Visual Art, member of program development team for Design major
- Kent Shaw, Associate Professor of English and Program Coordinator of Creative Writing
- Josh Stenger, Professor and Chair of Film and New Media

Watson Fine Arts, Weber Theatre 26

Education

Rich in history and a sense of shared purpose, Wheaton's innovative education programs prepare teacher scholars who pursue both an education major and an in-depth liberal arts major. By successfully completing requirements for the secondary, elementary or early childhood education majors, Wheaton graduates gain Massachusetts teacher licensure.

- Sara Donaldson, Assistant Professor of Education

Mary Lyon Hall, Woolley Room 14

Humanities for the 21st Century

Discover how studying the humanities at Wheaton prepares students to tackle the challenges of the 21st century. Hear from faculty about the exciting courses, research opportunities, internships, and career paths that students can pursue across the broad range of humanities disciplines available at Wheaton.

- James Byrne, Senior Professor of the Practice of English
- Teresa Celada, Associate Professor and Chair of Philosophy
